Terms & Condition Of Reporting

- Individual laboratory investigations are not conclusive and should be used along with other relevant clinical examinations to achieve final diagnosis. The results of a laboratory investigation are dependent on the quality of the sample as well as the assay procedures used.
 - Partial reproduction of this report is not permitted
 - In case of collected specimen(s), which are referred to TAC from a referral centre, it is presumed that patient demographics are verified and confirmed at the point of generation of the said specimen(s).
 - A test requested might not be performed and / or may need to be repeated for the following reasons:
 - a. Quantity of specimen received is insufficient (QNS) for performing the test requested.
 - b. Quality of specimen received is unacceptable (hemolysed / clotted / lipemic)
 - c. Prerequisites for certain tests are not adhered to.
- In any of the above instances, a fresh specimen must be sent for reporting of the same parameter(s)*
- Tests are performed as per the test schedule given in the test listing.
 - If the collection date is not stated on the test requisition form, the date of specimen receipt will print by default as the date of collection.
 - Normal results may vary from lab to lab. Many conditions can change your blood glucose levels. Your health professional will discuss any significant abnormal results with you in relation to your symptoms and medical history.
 - Some tests are referred to other laboratories to provide a wider test menu to the patients. The details of the laboratory where the sample was referred to, can be obtained from the Customer Care Services.
